Senate Group Straightens Out Hanoi

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's determination to see the war through in Vietnam gets backing today from 15 senators critical of his policies. Without moderating their dissent, 13 Democrats and 2 Republicans planned to make public a declaration aimed at North Vietnam's leaders saying they are steadfastly opposed to any American withdrawal until there is an honorable settlement of the war.

As a notice to Ho Chi Minh that he cannot count on criticism, demonstrations and protests to weaken U.S. resolve to secure South Vietnam against aggression, the move was welcomed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chief sponsor of the declaration, said in an interview that "because the situation is so delicate," he submitted the statement to Rusk in advance. He said Rusk felt a statement of this nature by the President's critics might have more chance of being accepted as truth by Hanoi than all of the declarations by the administration and its supporters that there will be no American pullout.

The declaration carries the signatures of such vigorous senatorial critics of Johnson's war course as J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee; George S. McGovern, D-S.D.; Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

Republicans who signed are Sens. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon. The sponsors failed, however, to enlist some other GOP dissenters to Johnson's conduct of the war. Church made it clear the signers believe the war has reached a critical point, where the failure of Hanoi to respond to negotiation has hardened Johnson's determination to escalate the U.S. military effort. They believe any substantial expansion of the fighting and bombing will make it more likely that Communist China will intervene. If that happens, they feel the Soviet Union also will become involved, thus ushering in World War III.

Within minutes, soldiers of the U.S. 25th Division aboard "Eagle Flight" helicopters popped down in the area and again flushed the guerrillas. Pursuit continued throughout the day with the Reds losing at least 14 known killed.

Paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Brigade supporting the Marines' southern flank in Quang Ngai Province killed 13 North Vietnamese regulars near Duc Pho. Six of the paratroopers were wounded.

Despite spotty weather, American airmen flew 123 missions over North Vietnam Tuesday. One raid reached about 30 miles northwest of Hanoi, up the Red River supply line from Red China, but many of the strikes were against suspected SAM sites in the area just north of the demilitarized zone.

Roosevelt Forced Into a Runoff

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mayor Elliott Roosevelt—who bills himself as "one of the most politically conscious men of our times"—began a runoff campaign for re-election today against a 37-year-old lawyer.

Roosevelt was forced into the runoff election Tuesday by Jay Dermer, who began his own campaign by calling Roosevelt "a wild man."

Roosevelt, second son of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, replied that Dermer was a "disgrace."

The runoff election will be June 6 and winners will be sworn in the next day.

Roosevelt kept his hopes for a second term alive by defeating former Mayor Melvin Richard, who had charged among other things in a bitter campaign that Roosevelt was soft on Arabs, a serious charge in the Jewish communities of Miami Beach.

Roosevelt explained that he had entertained in his home a Moroccan delegation at the request of the State Department but would not have done the same for King Saud.

Roosevelt, 56, a writer and Colorado rancher before coming to Miami Beach, ran an old-fashioned campaign with sound trucks and hand shaking in the supermarkets.

Many of the shoppers there are retired people, very conscious that Elliott is the son of the man who brought the Social Security that is their sole support.

Dermer said, "The Roosevelt name is no longer magic. A new breed of politician is coming to Miami Beach."

Roosevelt got 7,422 votes, about 40.7 per cent of the ballots cast. Dermer got 5,598. The third man, Richard, got 4,891.

Tuesday also was the day that excerpts of the new book, "I Love a Roosevelt," were released. The author is Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, the former Patricia Peabody Whitehead and Elliott's fifth wife.

In an article taken from the book the last days of Eleanor Roosevelt are described. The book said Eleanor realized she had a fatal illness and tried to die rather than linger as an invalid.

The book tells briefly how Elliott stood by his mother's bed as she awakened on one occasion after repeated blood transfusions and whispered: "Let me die. Let me die."

Mrs. Roosevelt died in 1962 of tuberculosis and anemia.

Child Killed Crossing Highway

HARRISBURG, Ark. (AP) — Billy O'Brien, 7, of Poinsett County was killed Monday when he was struck by a car while attempting to cross Arkansas Highway 14 in the Weona city limits.

The victim was a resident of Weona.

but considered in good condition.

Hospital attendants identified the wounded student as Morris English, 22.

Observers said the disturbance started as an apparent protest over police keeping watch while civil rights advocates recruited personnel for a night demonstration at a city dump.

The dump was the scene of a demonstration Tuesday by residents of the neighborhood. They complained the dump was a health menace.

Still another disturbance with Negro participants took place at Fort Worth, nearly 300 miles north of here. A Negro, Earl H. Gratts, 26, was shot and killed scuffling with a policeman who had answered a false burglar alarm, and a Negro woman was wounded.

More than 150 shouting Negroes gathered after the shooting on Fort Worth's west side. Officers dispersed the crowd after about 20 minutes, making four arrests.

10,000 'Out' as Security Risks

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under a strict, almost puritanical program to guard against human nuclear control errors, the Pentagon has removed since 1962 more than 10,000 persons classified as unreliable from jobs involving atomic weapons.

The Air Force, with thousands of men assigned to Strategic Air Command bombers, Minuteman missile silos and the vast defense complex for keeping them ready, has reassigned more than 9,500 men.

The fledgling Defense Atomic Support Agency, created in 1959 to help lay out the services' nuclear warfare needs, has removed more than 200 from hypersensitive posts.

These figures were provided by the Pentagon in response to questions prompted by a Soviet general's observation that Soviet troops show signs of increased tension and confusion around nuclear arms.

To a certain extent U.S. servicemen and defense civilians are afflicted with similar stresses.

Even the Army and Navy, not nearly so immersed as the Air Force in the business of thermonuclear war, have reassigned 300 men classed as unreliable in dealing with strategic bombs and missiles.

According to a count provided to The Associated Press, the Air Force has 26,500 officers and 85,000 enlisted men in nuclear-type positions requiring human reliability clearance.

The Defense Atomic Support Agency has about 2,100 dealing with atomic arms. Sources say the Army and Navy have about 40,000 jobs associated with guarding, moving, handling, loading or delivery of atomic weapons.

Bullet in Heart for 15 Years

GLENDORA, Calif. (AP) — William B. Spangler is a man with perennial heartache.

The chest pains come from a bullet lodged in his heart for almost 15 years. Now Spangler has discovered it because an X-ray was taken.

"I almost jumped out of my chair," he told a friend. The chest pains came from a bullet lodged in his heart for almost 15 years. Now Spangler has discovered it because an X-ray was taken.

Each time his heart beats the bullet bounces up and down two inches. Since leaving the bullet in Spangler's heart could eventually cause the slug to enter his lungs or tear through the heart muscle and cause death, it must come out through surgery May 23.

"I dread having open heart surgery," Spangler said, "but by explaining everything to me with great confidence in themselves, the doctors have really helped me face up to it."

Spangler, a 30-year-old electronics worker, is married and has two children. His family has accepted the impending surgery and is very optimistic, Spangler said.

Doctors give the operation a 98 per cent chance of success. Once the bullet is out, they say he should be completely recovered within six to eight weeks.

Today he remembered the incident when the bullet was fired.

It was Dec. 2, 1952, in Stillwell, Okla. Spangler, then 15, was squirrel hunting with a brother and two friends.

The youths' dogs treed two squirrels, Spangler said, so he and his friend started chopping down the tree. When Spangler went to get the rifle he had leaned against a rock, he picked it up by the barrel with finger and thumb. The gun went off and a bullet tore into his collarbone.

He was hospitalized for three days, but doctors could find no bullet and assumed it had ricocheted off the collarbone.

It ricocheted — right into his subclavian artery, then into the vena cava artery, and finally into the right ventricle of his heart.

Unaware of the danger, Spangler won four letters in high school playing baseball and basketball. He even played a full season with his company's softball team last year.

One of golf's earliest rules required teeing the ball a club's length from the hole.

Penitentiary Probe Is Disclosed

By MAURICE MOORE
Palmer Arkansas News Bureau

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — This is the story of Convict X. For more than two hours on a certain Sunday not too long ago, he wore the khaki of a trusty at Tucker Prison Farm and "worked" inside the compound's old hospital, which has since been closed.

Then, he vanished—as silently and inconspicuously as he had appeared.

His bearded face was lost in the mass of humanity inside the prison.

The "escape was legal — since Convict X was a special investigator for the office of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Convict X remains anonymous. Only a few knew his mission. And only they know his identity.

This cloak-and-dagger episode came within the first several weeks after penologist Thomas O. Murton took over as superintendent of Tucker.

The investigation was carried out with Murton's cooperation after convicts complained of the situation.

Several probes have been conducted at Tucker since the release in January of a confidential State Police report telling of tortures, beatings and other conditions at the prison.

But this is believed to be the first investigation in which a prober has posed as a convict. A few parts of the adventure sounded like something out of an old James Cagney-George Raft prison movie—minus the riots and the heronines.

Convict X pointed out that the prison hospital—or infirmary—was quartered in the building formerly used as the "death house."

He said the patients waited in the room where the electric chair once stood and were treated in the room which formerly housed the generator for the "chair."

He said the convicts' complaints of unsanitary conditions were such that firsthand information was needed as proof.

"We figured that if what the convicts told us were true, the risk of spreading communicable diseases was great," Convict X declared. "It was something that needed to be remedied immediately. So we decided the only way to really find out was to pose as a convict. Only three persons knew I was dressed as a trusty."

He said he did not feel he took any unnecessary chances disguising himself as a trusty because he was seen by only a limited number of inmates.

The trusty system — whereby convicts assume the authoritative roles usually handled by professional prison personnel — has been criticized as one of the chief sources of trouble at the state's two prison farms—Tucker and Cummins. It also has a large measure of support because of the profitable operations the penitentiary system has shown over the years.

Part of Convict X's disguise was a two-day growth of beard. He was given a khaki shirt and pants with legs tight at the bottom. He learned that this signified he was a "wheel" in prison parlance—the most feared of the trustys.

He was introduced as a new medical "assistant" and his job was to summon the convict patients from the waiting room. Convict X said he had no coaching as to how he should play the role of a trusty. "When I called the convicts from the waiting room, I was very harsh—and not very considerate," he said. "I just presumed that when a trusty talked to another inmate he swung his weight around. And that is just what I did. And it worked. It pretty well fit the pattern."

Convict X pointed out that the inmates "treated me like I was dirt and had nothing to say to me because I was a trusty."

He said he carried no weapon. His work in the infirmary did not require him to do so.

The investigator said he was

Wednesday, May 17, 1967

seen by less than 20 inmates —about 15 of whom had come to the infirmary for medical attention. A few were let in on the secret mission beforehand and cooperated.

"We had ample evidence from the convicts of what we were looking for," Convict X said. "But, in many cases, the word of a convict is automatically discredited. So we had to go in there and find out for ourselves."

He declared that — to his knowledge—no other investigator has posed as an inmate since at either Tucker or Cummins in order to obtain firsthand information.

VICTORY EXTENSION HOME-MAKERS MEET

On May 5, Mrs. Joe Willett was hostess at a meeting of the Victory Extension Homemakers Club, "Arkansas", sung in unison, opened the meeting. The hostess read Psalm 23 and led the group in repeating the Home-maker's Prayer.

For the eyeopener Mrs. Willett demonstrated making two throw pillows from dish cloths. "Pause for Living" was the lesson which Mrs. Cecil Smith taught. She also made a leader's report, "Spotlight on Aging." Mrs. Eva McKinney followed that with a Senior Citizens report.

Due to a conflict in dates the next meeting will be held the second Tuesday in June instead of the first Tuesday. All members are asked to note this change.

At the conclusion of the May meeting, Mrs. Travis England, a club member, was honored with a pink and blue shower. She received many lovely gifts for the expected arrival. The hostess served assorted tidbits and punch to 10.

BROOKWOOD PTA MEETS

The final school year meeting of Brookwood P.T.A. was held in the School Auditorium at 3:15 p.m. on May 10. The program was opened with a group of songs by students of the 4th, 5th, and 6th grades, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. B. C. Hyatt. The 6th graders who will be leaving this year were introduced. Special recognition was given to parents and teachers who will be leaving Brookwood this year. A vocal selection "How Great Thou Art" was sung by Cynthia Sisson, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Strech. Mrs. Lowell Harris brought the Devotional, Mrs. Jewell Moore, Jr. presented a Life Membership to 1st grade teacher, Mrs. Horace Fuller. The business meeting was called to order by Mrs. George Frazier, president. The new officers for the coming year were installed by Mrs. Arch Wylie. They are: President: Mrs. George Frazier; Vice-President, Mrs. Arthur Strech; Secretary, Mrs. Lowell Harris; Treasurer, Mrs. Don Webb; Historian, Mrs. Barry Brown; Parliamentarian, Mrs. Elmer Brown. The meeting was followed by an enjoyable social hour.

W.S.G. I and II MEMBERS INSTALLED

Mrs. Arch Wylie, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church, installed the officers of Wesleyan Service Guilds I and II at a joint dinner meeting at the Heritage House on Monday, May 15.

The leaders taking part in the service for W.S.G. I were: Mrs. P. H. Webb, President; Mrs. B. N. Holt, Vice-President; Mrs. James McLarty, Secretary; Mrs. Hazel Castle, Treasurer; Mrs. Glenice Porter, membership cultivation.

And for W.S.G. II were:

Mrs. Jamie Russell, president; Mrs. Bruce Duke, V. President; Mrs. Ed Aslin, Secretary; Mrs. Dale McKinney, treasurer; Mrs. Royce Wiesenberger, membership cultivation.

Mrs. B. C. Hyatt of W.S.G. I using as her theme, "What is That Thy Hand?" reviewed the program of work of the Guilds. Other members assisted in presenting new areas of future service.

Mrs. James McLarty sang "Soft Were the Hands of Jesus" and was joined by the group singing, "Take My Hand," to complete the program theme.

Mrs. Dale McKinney, W.S.G. II, was leader in an impressive pledge service. She highlighted projects which are made possible by gifts from the Wesleyan Service Guilds and Woman's Society of Christian Service.

The Guild Benediction closed the meeting.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

PARENTS WATCH OUT

Dear Helen: You asked for a copy of PARENTS WATCH OUT. Our brother sent this version to us from overseas.

Dear Family: Very soon the undersigned will be in your midst, dehydrated, demoralized and demobilized, to take his place once more in the community as a fellow creature with freedom and justice for all, engaged in life, liberty and the somewhat belated pursuit of happiness. In making your joyous preparations, to welcome him back, you must make a few allowances for the very crude environment which has been his home for the previous months. He must be treated with the utmost kindness and caution.

Show no alarm if he prefers to wear shorts and carries a briefcase full of old bread and warm beer; if he insists on taking off his boots (well then—shoes) before entering the house; or he shows a tendency to salute when meeting or saying goodbye to someone. Don't be shocked if he drinks wine from a goatskin flask. Refuse to ridicule him when he rides a bicycle down the middle of Main street and yells at the people driving cars. Keep cool when he pours gravy on his ice cream and chocolate syrup on his pork chops.

Don't be alarmed if you find him standing outside the kitchen door at 5 a.m. with a tray in his hands clamoring for you to feed the troops. At night when he goes to bed, be tolerant when he pulls his mattress off his bed, tries to inflate it, and puts it on the floor to sleep. In the morning he is liable to put on his overcoat, eat breakfast and then wash and dress. It doesn't matter what you serve him for this meal—dishwater will do. After chow, if he is hiding, announce loudly that police call is over.

In his first few weeks at home, leave the telephone off the hook between the hours of dusk and dawn. If it should ring, he may stagger out of bed shocking the neighbors with his profanity. He will then charge out of the house with the family laundry bag stuffed with food and drink, shouting "ALERT!"; toss his bag in a passing milk truck and disappear into the wood for the next day.

Never ask why the boy down the street made a higher rank than he made. Above all, don't ask why the neighbor's son was stationed in the States for two full years. Make no chattering remarks about the Air Force, Navy, or Marines, and never, never mention the Regular Army in his presence. This man will run amuck if you mention Draft Quotas and Preparation of Overseas Rotation. Avoid such phrases as "recruiting, NCO, duty rosters, re-enlistment, details, KP."

Do not at any time ask if he has tried to save money while in the Service. This might put him in a violent state of shock in which he may mutter something about "soldiers deposits, taxi fares, statements of charges, inflated beer prices, inflated other prices, the high cost of leaves, forfeiture of two-thirds pay, being taken on the black market, craps, poker, donations to all charitable funds, plus the First Sergeant's Fund—he's buying a Cadillac—refugee fund, slush fund, mess hall fund, battery (is that "lottery?") fund and orphans fund.

When introducing him to a young lady, be careful while he shakes her hand like a pump handle that he doesn't also daintily tap her on the posterior and below, "Hi, ya, Babel!" Keep in mind that beneath this tanned, rugged exterior there is a heart of gold which is the only thing of value he has left. Get all the women together, and the ice box stocked—P.M. COMING HOME! (Signed, GI JOE)—L.V.H.

Dear L: Thanks lots. The nicest thing about my readers is no matter what I ask, they always come through.—H.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-Television Writer LEHI, Utah (AP) — It was a curious place to find the Frank Sinatra of pro football, Paul Hornung — on a movie set in this Salt Lake City suburb.

What is he doing here? He is playing a two-day role in a movie called "The Devil's Brigade." "I'm just doing it for a kick in the head — and the money," said Hornung. He denies any ambitions to pursue a career on the silver screen. For the time being, Paul intends to limit his acting to the nation's football stadiums and taverns.

The comparison of Hornung and Sinatra does not concern their singing, but their swinging. Both have become noted as the premier bon vivants in their particular lines.

Oddly, both have married in the past year. And just as Sinatra has slowed his swinging pace, so it appears that Hornung has decelerated.

"Sure, I got tired of that racing around," he admitted. "That's why I got married." Hornung's role calls for him to play a Montana miner in "The Devil's Brigade," and he has a grand total of five lines. His previous acting experience was a similar-sized part in the ill-fated TV show, "My Sister Eileen" six years ago.

You might get the hint that Hornung was cast not for his acting prowess but for the strength of his name as a famous and controversial athlete. You're absolutely right. And Paul has no illusions about why he was hired.

LET'S TALK ABOUT MOVIES

By VELDA SEAMANS

Tonite's the last chance to see The Birth of Triplets at the Dixie Drive In. This is an educational show that makes it easier for young people to understand the facts of life.

The Dixie will be open again on Friday-Sat. Sunday with a real big program you'll like, if you like action. William Holden, Richard Widmark do battle in "Alvarez Kelly" in color—a story of the slickest piece of cattle stealing ever seen. We think this is a honey of a big outdoor hit!! Also "Agent for H.A.R.M." is a spy hit in color for more action!

Tonite's the last chance to see that funny titled—funny film—"Picture Mommy Dead" at the Saenger tonite.

EVERY SATURDAY NITE WE HAVE A SPECIAL LATE SHOW STARTING AT 11 P.M. at the Saenger, with a special prevue film!

Thurs thru Saturday the Saenger action for the whole family with two color features. One brings you realism of what is going on every day—"Flames Over Vietnam." Many scenes were taken right on the spot, and it will give you a better idea of what is happening to our boys over there. Then you'll see Troy Donahue, one of the most popular of stars with the younger set, in "Come Spy with Me", in which Troy becomes sort of a James Bond in scout outfits. It's in color too.

We think that there's a much action. scantily clad girls, etc in "Come Spy with Me" as any James Bond show.

Sunday, it's a big one—Charlton Heston—Laurence Olivier, will bring you an outstanding screen experience in "Khartoum"—a giant spectacle and thrilling adventure. This is a roadshow hit at our regular low prices don't miss it!!

Hole in Dirt Helps This Pitcher Win

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

George Toma is helping Catfish Hunter into a hole so Hunter can help the Kansas City Athletics out of one.

Toma, the Athletics' head groundskeeper, sees to it that Hunter has no trouble digging a hole in front of the pitching rubber to step into. The right-hander complained the dirt at Minnesota was like cement May 11 when he lost 8-0 to the Twins.

But Tuesday night in Kansas City, the dirt was just like dirt and Hunter dug in to bring his record to 4-3 with a three-hit, seven-strikeout, 4-0 victory over California. Three of his victories have been at home.

The triumph was the A's fifth straight since Hunter's "concrete" experience and moved them to within 4½ games of the American League-leading Chicago White Sox.

Third-place Kansas City now is 15-14—its best start since 1963 when the A's were 16-14 and in second place the morning of May 16. They finished eighth that year and didn't get any higher until last season when they struggled to seventh.

In other AL games Tuesday night, Dean Chance and Minnesota stopped the White Sox winning string at 10 with a 1-0 victory, the New York Yankees edged Cleveland 4-3 in 11 innings, Washington nipped Detroit 5-4 and Baltimore beat Boston 8-5.

Cincinnati topped Pittsburgh 6-3, Atlanta whipped the New York Mets 6-3, St. Louis outlasted Philadelphia 4-3, Los Angeles downed Houston 6-1 and San Francisco topped the Chicago Cubs 3-1.

It also was another Monday night for Kansas City. Rich Monday, the club's hottest hitter over the last 11 games, gave Hunter all the help he needed by doubling home the first two runs.

Chance, winning his sixth straight since losing his first start of the season, allowed just five singles and was backed by three double plays.

Chicago's Johnny Buzhardt also gave up only five hits, but two of them were successive doubles by Bob Allison and Zoilo Versalles for Minnesota's run in the second inning.

The Yankees, who tied the game with a pair of runs in the eighth, loaded the bases with none out in the 11th, Mickey Mantle then singled over the left fielder's head to end it.

Cleveland had taken a 3-1 lead in the fifth when, with two out, shortstop Dick Howser's throwing error let in two runs and Rocky Colavito's single brought in another.

Baltimore overcame a 5-4 Boston lead in the eighth when Paul Blair hit his first homer of the season, a three-run, pinch-hit blast. Frank Robinson hit a two-run homer for the Orioles, while Carl Yastrzemski belted a two-run shot and George Scott walloped a pair of triples for Boston.

Al Kaline hit a three-run homer in the Detroit first, but Washington came back to tie the score in its half of the inning, with Fred Valentine's two-run double the key hit.

The Senators took the lead with two runs in the third, with consecutive doubles by Jim King and Frank Howard producing one and Bernie Allen's sacrifice fly providing the other.

The University of Arkansas is the only non-Texas member of the Southwest Conference in sports.

Tiger Edges Torres in 15 Rounds

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Epstein described his son, Mike, today as a boy who "wants to play baseball as much as he wants to eat and as much as he wants to keep his left arm and his right arm."

But, the elder Epstein added, Mike will not play baseball at Rochester, where the Baltimore Orioles want him to go for a second straight year.

"We know Mike's not going back to Rochester," Jack said of his 24-year-old son who was placed on the suspended list Tuesday for failing to report to the International League team.

"We can't see any reason for him to go back. I don't know what would be accomplished by it. He was the minor league player of the year last year. What else can he do? He could only be hurt. He could just ruin an image that has been built up over a couple of years."

"Mike wants to play baseball. He works hard at playing, and he wants to achieve something. He wants to play baseball as much as he wants to eat and as much as he wants to keep his left arm and his right arm. But they're denying him his position."

"It's unfortunate that there's no place for him with the Orioles. We know they don't need a first baseman. Boog Powell is great."

"But if they can't use him, baseball in general should make a place for him—if they think he's good enough. If they don't, it's better learning it now than in a year or two years."

"Mike is not a revolutionary. He's not a rebel. All he's thinking about is playing baseball. But he wants baseball to come clean with him. A man must feel he's progressing, not regressing."

Jack Epstein, who is in New York on business, said he doubts if his son could return to the Orioles' organization at the major league level.

"I don't think the Orioles would want him back," he said. "He's created a lot of feeling there."

Epstein—the first baseman—currently is driving home to Los Angeles where he will decide his future out of baseball. He spent a lot of time the past few days talking to his father about it.

The articulate Epstein, a psychology major at the University of California before he signed with the Orioles, could finish school, his father said, or he could go with "a fine organization in Los Angeles which is anxious to get him."

About the job offer, the elder Epstein said only that the firm has some connection with athletics and the job would pay very well.

Atlanta Gets 6-3 Victory Over Mets

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Atlanta Braves are running short on strong arms, but their best glove is helping make up the difference—with his bat.

Clete Boyer, the Braves' slick-fielding third baseman, belted a two-run double and bases-empty homer in Tuesday night's 6-3 victory over the New York Mets.

The home run was the fourth this season for Boyer, who was acquired in a winter trade with the New York Yankees, and the 100th of his career. He has driven in 13 runs for the Braves, helping sluggers Hank Aaron, Joe Torre & Co. compensate for the loss of two injured pitching standouts.

Tony Cloninger, the club's right-handed ace, was placed on the disabled list Tuesday because of blurred vision in his left eye. Ken Johnson, a veteran right-hander, has been sidelined with a virus ailment.

Catcher Torre, tied with Aaron for the National League home run lead at eight apiece, joined the casualty list with a banged-up right index finger. Torre, however, was pressed into service in the fourth inning Tuesday night when his replacement, Gene Oliver, got thrown out of the game for protesting a call.

Reliever Jay Ritchie, who also entered the game in the fourth, made Boyer's timely hitting stand up by retiring all 16 batters he faced to earn his first NL victory.

"That homer leaves me only 400 behind Mickey Mantle," Boyer quipped after the Braves' victory lifted them over the .500 mark at 15-14. "And he's 35 years old; I'm only 30."

Elsewhere, a e a u-e leading Cincinnati downed Pittsburgh 6-3, St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 4-3, San Francisco beat Chicago 3-1 and Los Angeles whipped Houston 6-1.

The Yankees edged Cleveland 4-3 in 11 innings, Washington upended Detroit 5-4, Minnesota blanked Chicago 1-0, Baltimore outscored Boston 8-5 and Kansas City trimmed California 4-0 in American League play.

Boyer's two-run double in the fifth snapped a 3-3 tie at Atlanta and the ex-Yankee glove wizard homered in the eighth. The two hits raised his batting average to .250 in 25 games.

Ritchie, who compiled a 2-4 American League record at Boston before joining the Braves last year, bailed starter Wade Blasingame out of a fourth-inning jam and stymied the Mets the rest of the way.

The Reds scored three runs without a hit in the second inning on the way to their fourth straight victory. Mel Green struck out nine and blanked the Pirates until the ninth while boosting his pitching mark to 5-1.

Pittsburgh starter Woody Fryman left the game with arm trouble after walking the bases full with two out in the second. Reliever Steve Blass wild-pitched a run home then struck out Tommy Harper—only to have the pitch get by catcher Jesse Gonder. Gonder picked up the ball and heaved it wildly past first base as two more runs scored.

Mike Shannon's run-scoring single in the ninth lifted the Cardinals past Philadelphia. A walk and Orlando Cepeda's single set up Shannon's deciding hit.

Cookie Rojas' eighth-inning homer pulled the Phillies even after St. Louis took a 3-2 lead on Tim McCarver's RBI triple.

Juan Marichal became the league's first six-game winner, scattering seven hits as the Giants slipped past the Cubs with the help of Willie Mays' 547th homer. Marichal, who lost his first three starts but is unbeaten since then, struck out seven.

The Dodgers buried the Astros behind Claude Osteen's six-hit pitching and the hitting of catcher John Roseboro, who had two singles and a homer, good for two runs batted in.

Alex Hannum, Wife Divorced

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Alex Hannum, who coached the Philadelphia 76ers to the National Basketball Association championship last month, has been divorced by his wife, Dorothy.

Hannum agreed Tuesday to pay his wife $425 monthly alimony, plus $225 a month for support of their children, Katherine, 19, and Susan, 17.

Mrs. Hannum said in her Superior Court suit to end their 24-year marriage that Hannum was cold and indifferent and away from home most of the time.

NEW YORK (AP)—What do some jockeys do on their day off?

If you're Jorge Velasquez, who says he's still learning about horses, you visit Aqueduct. That's what the young Panamanian star did one recent Monday when Garden State was closed.

When he came into the riders' room, Johnny Rotz called him "Mister Five" in recognition of Jorge's recent five-winner day at the New Jersey track.

Hope Country Club Plans Golf Tourney

Plans are well along for the first annual Hope Country Club 4-Ball Invitational Tournament, according to Bill Hairr, tournament chairman. This tournament which is the first of its kind to be held at Hope, is set for the weekend of June 3 and 4 and will draw as many as 100 out-of-town players to the local course to compete for over $1,000.00 in prizes.

Saturday night, June 3, there will be a complimentary shrimp supper and dance for all contestants. All members of the Hope Country Club not entered in the tournament are also invited. Tickets for non-playing members are $2.00. The club is looking forward to showing its new facilities consisting of sauna, air conditioned snack bar, dining room, and locker rooms to the out-of-town visitors.

According to Mr. Hairr, invitations to the tournament are being actively sought. Late comers may be disappointed as the list of teams approaches 56, the maximum. Several state ranked golfers have planned to enter, and the public is invited to watch what promises to be some exciting and excellent golf seldom seen in this area.

10 College Records Smashed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A massive assault on the record book resulted in ten Arkansas intercollegiate conference records, including three by Harding's premier distance runner Jim Crawford.

Eight of the records were set Tuesday. Two others were established Monday.

Crawford won the two-mile run Monday in 9:00.4, bettering the record by more than 26 seconds. He came back with times of 4:09.2 in the mile and 1:52.7 in the 800. The records were 4:13.9 and 1:53.3, both set last year.

Southern State's dominance in the sprints and relays resulted in the team title. The Muleriders finished with 86 points. Harding, winner the past two years, had 59 points followed by State College of Arkansas with 56. Arkansas A&M was fourth with 28. Henderson had 23, Arkansas Tech 10, Ouachita Baptist University 7, College of the Ozarks 3 and Hendrix 2.

The Muleriders' relay teams established records in the 440-yard relay and the mile relay with times of 4:16 and 3:16. Arkansas A&M's mile medley relay team clicked off a 3:29.7 for a record. Charles Lemley of State College established a pole vault standard with a leap of 14-6¾.

Southern State's Elgin Stokes knocked a tenth of a second off the conference record in the 440-yard dash with a time of 48.3 and Kent Smith of Harding lowered the 440-yard intermediate hurdles record to 53.5.

The Muleriders' Jackie Seale set the other record in the 220-yard dash prelims Monday and tied it Tuesday. He ran 21.6 both times. He tied the record of 9.7 in the 100-yard dash prelims but won the finals with a time of 9.8.

It was one of the few disappointments during the two-day meet.

2,768 Enter National Golf Open

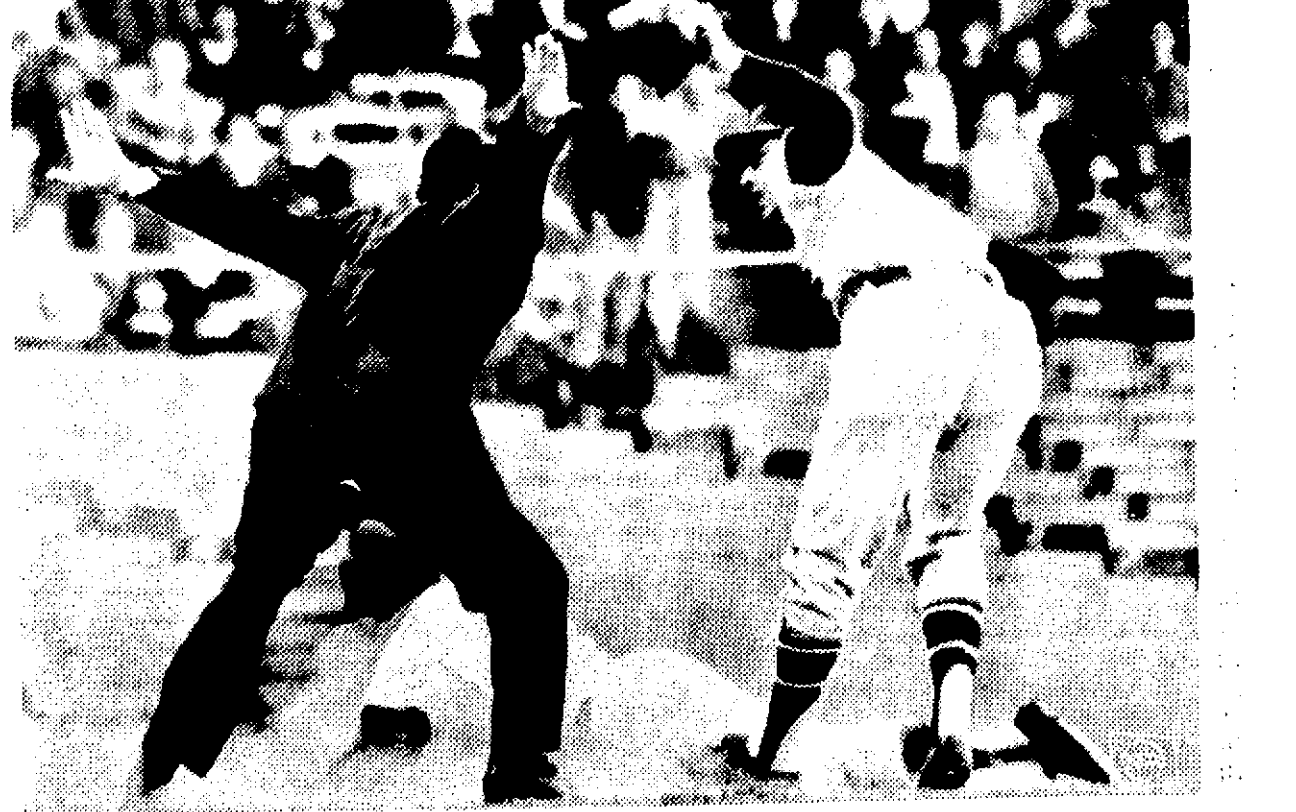

NEW YORK (AP)—A total of 2,768 golfers have entered the National Open Golf Championship, according to the U.S. Golf Association.

After qualifying rounds have reduced the field, the Open will be held June 15-18 at the Baltusrol Country Club in Springfield, N.J. The local 36-hole qualifying rounds will be held at 53 sites on May 22 and 23, with the sectional rounds scheduled for 14 centers on June 5 and 6.

Ben Hogan, whose game has lately shown signs of its once-legendary form, will be seeking an unprecedented fifth title. By finishing as one of the 15 low scorers in last year's Open, Hogan automatically qualifies for the tournament.

In all, 61 golfers are exempt from the qualifying rounds including the last five winners of the Open, PGA champ Al Gelberger and members of the Walker and Ryder Cup teams.

The defending champion is Billy Casper, who rallied from a seven-stroke deficit on the last nine holes last year to tie Arnold Palmer and then beat Palmer in a playoff.

"YOU DON'T SAY," says Clete Boyer of the Atlanta Braves as umpire Billy Williams gives the safe sign on this play at third base. Clete looks a bit surprised. Rightly so. On his follow-through after the attempted tag, he hit Williams—accidentally, of course—in the mouth with his glove.

Rides 7 Winners in a Row

TORONTO (AP)—Richard Grubb, an 18-year-old apprentice jockey from Ridgeway, Ont., rode seven consecutive winners at Woodbine race track Tuesday for a North American record.

Grubb, who begins a 10-day suspension today for careless riding in a race last Saturday, started his streaks with River Party, $11.10, in the second race and swept the remainder of the eight-race card.

The nearest anyone has come to Grubb's one-day achievement was at Hawthorne Park in Chicago on Oct. 1, 1956. Johnny Heckman rode seven winners on the card that day, but not consecutively.

Jack A. Price had acquired Joppy for an unpaid board bill. Joppy was one of four mares bred to Saggy in 1957 at the Country Life Farm, not far from Pimlico. The total price was $1,800 — or $400 each. The winning offspring was Carry Back produced by Joppy who died the same year her colt was being crowned best of his class.

Barbs Delight is out of a mare named Flora MacDonald. Shirley Payne, who is training horses at Pimlico, recalls how he once owned her.

Her original owner "owed me money for several bills and he asked me if we could call it even if he gave me the mare," said Payne. "I agreed."

Flora MacDonald won six times for Payne when a friend, Bobby Motch, offered to buy her.

"He wanted her as a broodmare," Payne continued. The sale was made for $1,500.

Barbs Delight Success Tale in Racing

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP)—It's horses like Barbs Delight which lead outsiders to look upon racing as a get-rich-quick game.

The runner-up in the Kentucky Derby was auctioned off for $2,000 in 1964. His three owners think so highly of him now that they are forking over $10,000 just to make him eligible to run Saturday in the Preakness at Pimlico.

In the family background of Barbs Delight is a striking parallel to another bargain horse named Carry Back. Their mothers passed into the hands of new owners because of unpaid room and board bills.

The mothers left a lot to be desired from an aristocratic breeding viewpoint. But Carry Back won the Kentucky Derby and Preakness and was the best 3-year-old of 1961.

His dame, Joppy had never won a race. Her mother, grandmother, and great grandmother never even raced.

Jack A. Price had acquired Joppy for an unpaid board bill. Joppy was one of four mares bred to Saggy in 1957 at the Country Life Farm, not far from Pimlico. The total price was $1,800 — or $400 each. The winning offspring was Carry Back produced by Joppy who died the same year her colt was being crowned best of his class.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Premarital Checkups Should Be All-Inclusive

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There is no doubt that married men and women, as a class, outlive their unmarried counterparts and are, on the whole, happier. Neither is there any doubt that more persons get married in June than in any other month. This being so, let us consider the premarital checkup and what it should include. In states where this is a legal requirement, the purpose is primarily the prevention of the spread of venereal disease. Important as this is to the future happiness of both partners and to any offspring they might have, this should not be the sole consideration of the examining physician.

A search should be made for such diseases as tuberculosis, diabetes and heart disease, and inquiry should be made regarding a family history of various hereditary diseases. These may all have a profound effect on the spouse and/or the children. The premarital examination is also an appropriate time for giving out pertinent information on family planning and for answering questions pertaining to a happy and healthful sex life. Your doctor may want to recommend a book on this subject that will answer many of the questions he hasn't time to discuss with you in detail.

Q—In a recent column you said injections of glucagon in the hip muscles would relieve attacks of weakness due to a low blood sugar. What is the difference between glucagon and glycogen? You also said that low blood sugar can be caused by an inborn error of metabolism. What does that mean?

A—In normal persons, glucagon is secreted by the pancreas in response to a lowering of the blood sugar. It stimulates the liver to release its stored glycogen, which is a complex sugar. It also breaks the glycogen down into glucose, the simple sugar known as blood sugar. The glucagon used in the practice of medicine is extracted from the pancreas of animals.

Metabolism is the continuous process of building up and tearing down the body tissues. In many hereditary or congenital diseases, some phase of this complex process does not work properly. These diseases (diabetes, gout, phenylketonuria and many others) have been grouped together as inborn diseases of metabolism.

Medical Study for Monks

By FRANK CAREY AP Science Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — A government-sponsored study among Benedictine and Trappist monks indicates that the higher you go in your chosen life's work the greater your risk of a coronary heart attack.

The National Institutes of Health said in a report today that among members of both religious orders, the prevalence of coronary heart disease was approximately three times higher for ordained priests than for members classified as brothers. Brothers are members of a religious order who are not preparing for, or are not yet ready for, the final vows of holy orders.

While the study was limited to the monks, the agency indicated that the risks suggested by the findings might well apply to people moving up to higher echelons in any occupation.

The findings came about somewhat by chance, said the report.

The report declared: "A study originally designed to assess the relationship between dietary habits and heart-disease risk has disclosed that occupational stress may also be a potent factor affecting the development of coronary heart disease and such dangerous complications as heart attacks."

It said the study "compared a large group of Benedictine monks, who eat a typical American diet, with a similar group of Trappists, who eat a frugal, lacto-vegetarian diet considerably lower in fat."

A lacto-vegetarian diet consists of milk and vegetables.

Not unexpectedly, said the report, the Trappists had substantially lower amounts of fatty substances in the blood serum than did the Benedictines and experienced only about one-third as many episodes of coronary heart disease.

But the study also disclosed that as monks from either group moved up to higher echelons within their order, their heart-disease risk increased steeply even though their dietary habits remained essentially the same.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Many Cities Enter Bids for Turnpike

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)— The Arkansas Turnpike Authority is scarcely out of its cradle, but already it is besieged by competitors for the state's first toll road.

An aggressive group headed by Orville Richolson, editor of the Newport Independent, is promoting a turnpike which would link Kansas City and New Orleans by way of Memphis with a road that would enter Arkansas north of Mountain Home and cut southeast to Memphis.

The group calls its proposed road the Arkansas Ozark Express Route and it was working for an interstate highway along the same path when the 1967 legislature created the Turnpike Authority.

Now, Richolson said, it is one of nine groups working in behalf of a specific turnpike route. He said various groups have proposed a total of 1,200 miles of toll roads.

But Richolson's group, like most of the others, has its argumentative weapons aimed at the so-called Western Turnpike, whose backers were the principal promoters of the legislation setting up the authority.

The authority responded by giving the Western Turnpike first priority, so it is natural that proponents of other routes would try to shoot down the western route before they fall to arguing among themselves.

The Western Turnpike would run about 275 miles down the western border of Arkansas to establish a new Kansas City to New Orleans route by tying in with proposed toll roads in Missouri and Louisiana.

"We feel like all these others do about this priority for the western route," Richolson said. "We feel that the first turnpike should be the one with the best chance of (financial) success and we believe ours is that one."

If turnpike backers want a Kansas City-New Orleans link, Richolson said, "Ours would provide it at half the cost."

Travelers on the Ozark Express route would go from Memphis to New Orleans on interstate highways under construction or scheduled for completion before the turnpike could be built.

Richolson warned in a recent editorial in his newspaper that backers of other routes should not be sidetracked by talk to the effect that their routes could be built after the Western Arkansas road.

"Theoretically it might be possible even to build all 1,200 miles of routes . . ." he wrote. "But this is extremely unlikely."

He then cited figures to show that only five states—New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Kentucky and Oklahoma—have more miles of turnpike in service than it would take for the western route.

He quoted George Cracraft of Helena, a member of the Turnpike Authority, as saying, "How do we know we're building the best turnpike if we don't study all the routes?"

So the main aim of Richolson's committee right now is to convince the authority that it should use $100,000 set aside for turnpike feasibility studies to look at all routes and pick the best one.

This view was shared by another Newport resident who is, in a sense, competing with Richolson for turnpike priority. "Make a feasibility study and then decide which route will be built," said Walter Heard, chairman of the Highway 67 Improvement Association which wants a toll road linking Little Rock and St. Louis.

Heard said he had no doubt that a traffic count would show the Highway 67 route to be the most feasible.

Richolson said critics of his proposed route had contended that it would barrel Arkansas traffic into Memphis. He took an opposite view. "It would open the recreational areas of North Arkansas to the large population in Memphis," he said.

He noted the his route would run near Blanchard Caverns, a massive cave now being developed between Bulls Shoals Lake and Lake Norfork, two established attractions.

Richolson said Springfield, Mo., interests had agreed to support the Ozark Express Route, although there is support in the Springfield area for the so-called Central Turnpike which would enter Arkansas north of Harrison, pass through Little Rock and Pine Bluff and leave the state south of El Dorado.

The backers of the Central Turnpike have been almost as vocal as those favoring the Western Turnpike.

Noting that Oklahoma recently approved legislation which might lead to a turnpike paralleling the Western Turnpike, Richolson said, "Parallel routes are impossible. Neither one would be a success."

UNSUITABLE SUIT for some occasions is this creation made of newspaper. Eye-catching, yes, but one Peter Moloney of Liverpool, England, found himself holding the bag, or at least shreds of it, when a high-pressure hose was turned on him.

G. & F. Lake Pledged to Union Co.

LITTLE ROCK (UPI)— The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission agreed Monday to build a lake in Union County, ending almost 10 years of effort by sportsmen of the area to get one.

The commission said it would start buying land this year and the lake should be complete in late 1968 or early 1969. The cost will be about $400,000.

Hurley Axum of El Dorado, former president of the Arkansas Wildlife Federation, spoke for the delegation which asked for the lake.

The commission agreed to cooperate with the International Paper Co. in establishment of a game management area on 16,000 acres of company land in Lafayette County. Gene Rush, chief of the commission's game division, said the program will concentrate on deer and turkey at first.

Wayne Hampton of Stuttgart, the former highway commission chairman, led a delegation which asked for a change at the Weber Dam to open the White River wildlife refuge to small boats by way of LaGrue Bayou. His delegation apologized for unnamed persons who have criticized the commission.

That was apparently a reference to the Arkansas County Wildlife Association request for a management survey and audit of the commission.

Railroad Fined in Rate Cut Case

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois Central railroad was fined $120,000 Monday after pleading no contest to three indictments charging conspiracy to undercut freight charges.

The railroad was accused of absorbing money specified by the Interstate Commerce Commission for split delivery (truck and rail) of sugar.

Three judges imposed identical fines of $40,000 in separate cases in U.S. District Court.

Probe of Private Clubs Announced

LITTLE ROCK (AP)— Pros. Atty. Richard B. Adkisson said Monday he would attempt to determine why about 25 private clubs in Pulaski County did not file financial statements with his office.

Adkisson said April 19 that he wanted all private clubs in the county to file financial statements with him. He had set Monday as the deadline for filing the statements.

Adkisson said he had received about 35 statements but that there were about 60 private clubs in the county.

He said he would check each statement to see if any of the clubs showed a profit. Adkisson said under Arkansas law private clubs cannot legally make a profit.

Adkisson did not release a list of the clubs which had not furnished statements.

Suspect Not Borman, Wanted Nazi

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)— Frankfurt Prosecutor Joachim Richter announced today that a fingerprint check has established that an aged man arrested in Guatemala on suspicion of being Martin Borman is not Hitler's missing deputy fehrer.

The man, who is in his 70s, said his name was Falero Martinez and that he was born in Uruguay. He was arrested last week while working as a farm worker in the interior of Guatemala.

China Power Fight Nears Climax

CHICAGO (AP)— Red China tried to head off a January attempt by Hanoi to end the Vietnam war, the Chicago Daily News says in a copyright story.

But Hanoi issued a peace feeler anyway—only to have it rejected by the United States, the News said.

The story by Simon Malley, United Nations correspondent for the French-language Jeune Afrique and other African newspapers, quoted an interview with Premier Chou En-lai.

Monday's report was the second in a series based on talks between Malley and Chinese government leaders during a recent trip to China.

Malley said Chou told of warning the North Vietnamese that to proceed with peace moves would be to play into the hands of the United States and the Soviet Union.

"This idea of negotiations was pushed by the Soviet revisionists," he quoted Chou as saying. "In fact, it may well have originated with them. But their aim was not to help the freedom fighters—Viet Cong—but to undermine and isolate them from their comrades in the North."

"We were convinced that the United States would not accept the proposal because of their continued belief in the possibility of military victory."

Chou told Malley that the peace feeler was eventually turned down by the United States.

The story quoted Chou as saying a high-level delegation of Vietnamese had visited Peking to tell Chou of Hanoi's intention to offer the United States peace negotiations in return for a halt in bombing. Chou said he told the North Vietnamese that such a proposal would lead to further demands from the United States.

The coldest temperature in the history of our planet was logged in the year 1958 at Sovietskaya, a Russian base about 700 miles from the South Pole. A temperature of 127 degrees below zero was recorded.

China Tried to Head Off Hanoi Peace

TOKYO (AP)— For the first time the official Communist Chinese press has denounced by name an opponent of Mao Tse-tung, indicating that the power struggle in Peking was headed for a climax.

A broadcast by Radio Peking today named Peng Chen, fallen Politburo member and mayor of Peking, heretofore attacked only by Red Guard wall newspapers, as an opponent of "Mao Tse-tung's thinking."

Exactly a year after it was drawn up in the secrecy of a Central Committee meeting, a note of May 16, 1966 was made public by the official radio denouncing the fallen Peking mayor.

Under the rules issued last August for the current purge, called the "great proletarian cultural revolution," the official press was forbidden to denounce any leader by name without clearance from top political bodies.

Peter Cooper, at 85, was the oldest U.S. presidential nominee. He was nominated by the Greenback party in 1876.

Education Bill Is in Trouble

7th Call for Pennsylvania Constitution

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Pennsylvania voters were asked again today if they wanted to call a convention to revise their 94-year-old state constitution. Six times in the past they have turned down similar proposals.

The constitutional convention question was the first test at the polls for Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, a Republican, since he was elected last November. Shafer has backed the constitutional convention question with a vigorous campaign.

Another highlight of the primary was the scrap in Philadelphia for control of the Democratic party organization.

Previous opponents of constitutional revision claimed that changes would open the door to a state income tax.

Shafer, often flanked by former Govs. George M. Leader, a Democrat, and William W. Scranton, a Republican, carried one main message to the voters — no income tax in a revised constitution.

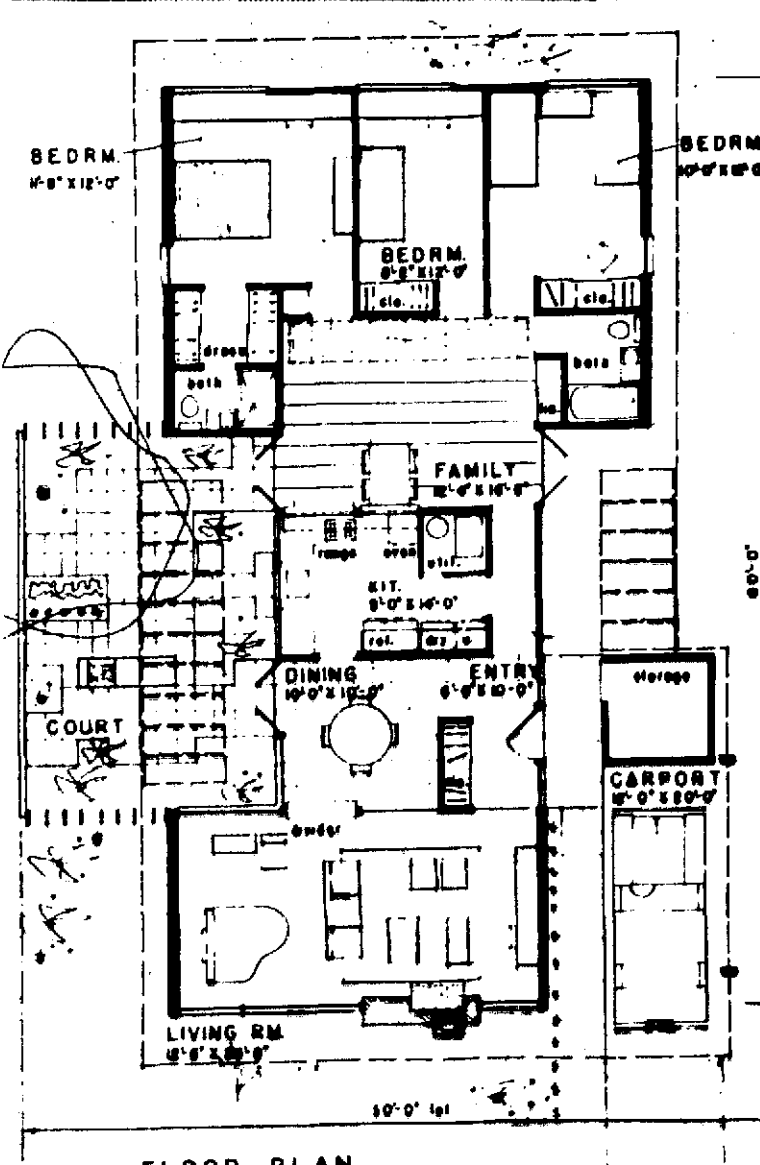

The primary in Philadelphia, the state's largest city, was enlivened when the Democratic organization decided not to back incumbent Mayor James H.J. Tate. Instead it endorsed Alexander Hemphill, who resigned as city controller to run for mayor. Tate decided to run anyway, and vowed if he is nominated he will take control of the Democratic organization and oust Francis Smith, city chairman.

Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter, a Democrat turned Republican, is opposed for the GOP nomination for mayor.

making opening day speeches to the conference. Sources said they would reaffirm the administration's resolve to press for desegregation and also ask support of the $6.7-billion, two-year school aid bill.

The measure has run into strong opposition from Southern Democrats and some Republicans backing a different version that will continue the massive federal aid to education but shift the responsibility for administering it to the states.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

INSPIRED by the serenity of traditional Japanese architecture and landscaping, architect Samuel Paul, 89 30 161 St., Jamaica, N.Y., designed this contemporary one-story house, HA499P, and its garden court for a narrow plot. The interior is arranged for an active family. The kitchen serves the family room, outdoor court and formal dining room. The family playroom, living room, dining room and kitchen are all related to the private garden court, creating a feeling of indoor-outdoor living. To insure privacy from the center of family activity the formal living room and bedrooms are located at opposite ends of the house. Area of the house is 1,444 square feet.

Now that the season of the shamrock is spent and the day of theedogwood is at hand, can the time of the tax take be far away?

We had always believed that taxes - like death - were something that should intrude as lightly as possible into the lives of our young. Death, when it came to a loved one, was explained to a child as a departure for Heaven. And taxes were mentioned not at all - adjectives pertaining thereto not being fit for hebetate ears.

All of which goes to show how archaic we've become in this affluent age when every man is a king and every bike-riding boy the idol in the ad man's image. For Mortimer M. Chaplin, former head bogyman of the Internal Revenue Service, has written a section on the income tax for the New Book of Knowledge, those volumes of veracity for the very young. No matter that Mr. Chaplin points out that this tax was once unconstitutional. He also makes the point that it became the law of our belabored land in 1913.

So if Junior climbs upon your knee and asks if you're figuring by (1) or (2) of Line 11a of your 1040 don't scream. And if he asks for the $600 for himself you listed on Line 3a and added into Line 3b, don't hit him. Just put it down to the part of the awesome awfuls of this age of affluence, shake your shattered head at your amazing offspring, and totter off to take pen to checkbook and tote up the tax. That'll be pretty awful too. — Knoxville (Tenn.) News-Sentinel

Hospital Costs Forcing Change?

"The American hospital has outlived its usefulness in its present form. . . it may be the Trojan horse of medicine. . . The hospital is obviously inadequate as a focal point for patient care since its costs are skyrocketing beyond tolerance."

Our observations? No. They are the opinions, quoted out of context, of Dr. William N. Hubbard, Jr., president of the American Association of Medical Colleges. We suspect he's right. We can see no early end to the rising costs of patient care (which now amount to $56 a day in New York) unless the hospitals discard their concept of a massive complex that gives each patient similar treatment, regardless of his need.

They ought to establish diagnostic units for patients who can walk, recuperation wards for patients who can largely care for themselves, and expand the number of outpatient clinics for people who don't really need hospitalization. Unless there are rapid changes, Hubbard says, hospital costs "can ultimately destroy the tolerance of the community for support of medical services."

He said it; we didn't. Though we agree. — Asheville (N.C.) Citizen

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Elizabeth Josephine Steinsiek, 21, the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Steinsiek of Jonesboro, was named Miss Jonesboro Tuesday night. The winner is a senior at Arkansas State University.

Miss Steinsiek's measurements are 37-23-36. Ayla Mae Hudson, 19, a freshman at ASU, finished second in the contest and Rosemary Walker, 17, a senior at Jonesboro High School, was third.

Mo. Pac. Cuts Passenger Service

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — E. E. Spencer, passenger traffic manager at the Missouri Pacific office at St. Louis, has indicated the railroad intends to shut down its daily passenger train service between Little Rock and Alexandria, La.

Spencer has written officials in each of the Arkansas cities served by the line and told them of Missouri Pacific's plans.

British Push Market Bid, Defy France

By RONALD THOMSON
LONDON (AP) — British newspapers today backed Prime Minister Harold Wilson's reported resolve to press ahead with his bid for Common Market membership despite President Charles de Gaulle's new brushoff.

There was no official comment on De Gaulle's new rebuff at his news conference Tuesday. But high officials said they were not particularly surprised and that Wilson was determined to go ahead with his campaign to get Britain into the European Economic Community.

London newspapers termed De Gaulle's statement "a velvet veto," "a velvet veto" and the start of a new kind of cold war in Europe.

The French leader did not repeat his outright veto in 1963 of the first British application. But he outlined what he called "formidable obstacles" standing in the way of quick British entry into the six-nation European trading group.

He spoke of British isolation from the Continent, Britain's Commonwealth ties and its "special agreement" with the United States. Admitting Britain to the Common Market, he said, would lead to applications for membership from Britain's fellow members in the seven-nation European Free Trade Association — EFTA. And this would mean "building a totally new edifice and razing what has just been built," he said.

De Gaulle listed as alternatives an association between the Common Market and EFTA, which Wilson has already rejected, or waiting until the British achieve "the profound economic and political transformation which would allow them to join the six continental."

"Nobody expected a warm handshake from President de Gaulle," said the London Sun, a backer of Wilson's Labor government, "but the frozen mitt is about as frozen as it could be, short of a straight no."

"Britain must just grin cheerfully and battle ahead."

Other papers suggested that perhaps British entry had better wait upon a change in France.

"The problem is not how De Gaulle can keep Britain out of Europe," said the Daily Mirror, "but how long De Gaulle's 'No' will be supported by the people of France."

Convicted of Robbing Bank 2nd Time

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Carl M. Sisk, 24, of Kannapolis, has been convicted of robbing a bank after he escaped from a jail where he was serving 15 years for robbing the same bank.

He was ordered Tuesday to serve 10 years at the conclusion of his original sentence.

Most of the $8,869 stolen at a branch of the First Union National Bank in Rosman in April 1966 and the $13,790 taken the following August was recovered.

Convict Walks Off Prison Farm

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Marion Odell Morrow, 23, of Crawford County apparently walked off a work detail Tuesday at Tucker Prison Farm.

Prison officials said Morrow had been sentenced to two years for burglary. Authorities said Morrow was a former resident of Chester.

Police reported today that Morrow was spotted at Russellville late Tuesday night and that a search is continuing in the Russellville area.

Class President Requires 3 Votes

PORTALES, N.M. (AP) — It took three elections before Eastern New Mexico University students could decide on a sophomore class president.

Gary Blakely of Portales defeated Ernie Sanchez of Clovis 202-194 in a runoff election Tuesday.

Friday the two had finished 16 votes apart and it was decided to hold a runoff Monday.

In the first runoff, each candidate polled 129 votes.

Dr. Lawrence to Tour Holy Land in June

Dr. L. T. Lawrence of Hope will be a member of the Ouachita Holy Land and Europe Tour party of June 7-28. The tour will fly Alitalia to Rome on June 7th to begin 21 days of sight-seeing which will include Egypt, Lebanon, a motor tour through Syria to Jordan, Israel, Greece, France and England.

Among the experiences awaiting Dr. Lawrence and his friends are: A camel ride from the Great Pyramid to the ancient Sphinx, sailing of the River Nile, walking through the Street called Straight in Damascus, crossing the Jordan River near the Dead Sea, viewing the panorama of Old Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives after meditation in the Garden of Gethsemane, attending a special worship service in the Garden of the Tomb near Gordon's Calvary, visiting the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem, drinking water from Jacob's Well, seeing Mary's Well in Nazareth, visiting the ruins of Capernaum synagogue on the shore of the Sea of Galilee, and many others.

The tour arranged by the Jackson Travel Agency of Tyler, Texas, will be led by Dr. Vester E. Wolber, chairman of the Department of Religion at Ouachita Baptist University, Arkadelphia. The travel party will return from London on June 28.

Tariff Talk Benefits Are Appraised

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — It will be six to 10 weeks before consumers, businessmen and farmers learn what benefits—or as some industries suspect, what drawbacks—will result from the Kennedy Round of tariff cutting at Geneva.

The detailed, item-by-item new schedule of tariffs on some 6,300 farm and industrial items probably will not be completed until just before June 30, the deadline for President Johnson's signing of the trade agreement.

By then the schedules will be available here for inspection in some form or other, said Leonard U. Wilson, special assistant to William M. Roth, chief U.S. negotiator.

"But it may be another 15 to 30 days later before the usual detailed analysis and documentation can be duplicated and made available generally," Wilson added. "That's our best guess now."

Even the industries which criticized the Geneva outcome—including the Manufacturing Chemists Association in Washington and the American Iron and Steel Institute, New York—noted their comments were based on incomplete knowledge. The White House counseled patience. President Johnson said Tuesday that "much hard work remains to be done" in putting general understandings into concrete form.

His statement added: "The final details must await the completion of this work—and final approval given by governments."

Compilation of the new tariff schedule has been in process for weeks. Each tariff must be checked by all 53 governments involved in the talks.

About 60 employees of the U.S. Tariff Commission now are in Europe checking the figures, Wilson said. Meantime, no one in this country can answer questions on any of the newly negotiated proposed duties.

Planes Knock Out Missile Sites, DMZ

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes raided two surface to air missile sites the North Vietnamese were setting up in the demilitarized zone Tuesday night as a force of 5,000 U.S. Marines just south of the zone fought to root North Vietnamese regulars out of a complex of tunnels.

The U.S. Command said the antiaircraft missile sites which Marine jets bombed were located almost exactly on the 17th Parallel dividing North and South Vietnam and about eight miles in from the coast.

There was no immediate report of damage, and a headquarters spokesman did not say whether any of the big Soviet-built missiles were on the sites.

These were the first SAM sites reported inside the demilitarized zone. Newsmen last weekend saw a Skyhawk jet downed by one of the "flying telephone pings," in the area, but the missile was believed to have been launched from another site — which was subsequently raided — just north of the zone.

SAM sites along the 17th Parallel could menace the high-flying U.S. B-52s which regularly raid areas of Quang Tri Province just below the demilitarized zone.

A military spokesman said intensified Communist mortar, artillery and rocket fire continued along the line today, punctuated by occasional sharp ground fighting.

The battle began when a Marine company supported by tanks ran into about 150 Communists in a complex of tunnels and bunkers about a mile from the Marine camp. More Marines were called up, and the Reds kept up a fighting retreat for four hours before breaking off.

While the battle raged, Red gunners poured 61 rounds of mortar, artillery and rocket shells on the Con Thien camp.

There was also some sharp fighting about 27 miles north of Saigon Tuesday when a Special Forces team operating with Vietnamese irregulars flushed a guerrilla force which broke and ran under artillery.

Poats, State Dept. No. 2 Man, O.K.'d

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ruth-erford M. Poats has won Senate confirmation as No. 2 man in the U.S. foreign aid program but likely hasn't heard the last from his chief congressional critic, Sen. Birch Bayh.

Bayh lost Tuesday his long fight to block approval of Poats' nomination but announced he plans to continue his investigation of the Agency for International Development. Poats is now AID's deputy administrator.

Bayh, Indiana Democrat, said he would continue looking into an apparent business connection between AID and "a firm whose clients include Chinese Communist interests."

He did not elaborate but an aide said Bayh would disclose details soon.

The senator, a 39-year-old first-term, had fought almost singlehandedly against Poats' appointment since President Johnson announced it last October.

Poats, 44, a blunt-spoken ex-newspaperman not given to currying congressional favor, has directed AID's Far East program the last two years. Bayh blamed Poats for mismanagement and waste in economic assistance to South Vietnam.

The nominee barely survived a key vote when the Senate rejected 43 to 42 a Bayh motion to refer the nomination back to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The final vote for confirmation was 61 to 24.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — E. M. Arnold of Little Rock, president of the Board of Governors of the Arkansas Livestock Exposition, was re-elected Monday along with the board's other incumbent officers.

Clyde E. Byrd of Little Rock was re-elected executive vice president and Charles C. Stewart of Little Rock was re-elected secretary-treasurer. W. F. Fletcher of Lonoke, J. G. Gerard of Benton, Dave Grundfest of Little Rock, Walter Guy of Little Rock, J. W. Hull of Russellville and W. M. Smith of Birdeye were re-elected vice presidents.

Public Now Wants Total Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time more people want "total victory" in Vietnam than want a supervised withdrawal by both sides, according to a sampling of public opinion by the Louis Harris Poll.

The public opinion poll published Tuesday also showed continued widespread support for the administration's conduct of the war and a growing conviction it will last a long time.

Those asking for a military victory totaled 45 per cent while 41 per cent of those polled asked for withdrawals under United Nations supervision. In February total victory was favored by 43 per cent and last November by 31 per cent.

The poll found 72 per cent of those queried supported President Johnson's policies, up 2 points since February, but 5 points lower than last November.

The belief that Vietnam will be a long war increased from 71 per cent in February to 81 per cent now, the poll said.

The number who feel the bombing of North Vietnam will help end the war dropped from 61 per cent in February to 55 per cent now. Twelve per cent said they thought the bombing was delaying an end to the war, up 4 points since February.

3 Jobs Open in Revenue Office Here

Mrs. Thalia Geist of the Hempstead County Revenue office has announced that applications are now being taken for three temporary jobs in the office during the month of July. Governor Rockefeller has directed local offices to employ college students in these jobs, preferably those entering their third or fourth year.

All applicants must be 18 or above. The job pays $8 per day and will last all the month of July. Mrs. Geist will explain further qualifications at the Revenue office. Parents of college students who might be interested are urged to contact Mrs. Geist on behalf of their students. The Hempstead County Republican Committee has authorized Mrs. Geist to select qualified persons from applicants who qualify. The deadline is June 1st.

N.Y. Editions in Paris Are Combined

NEW YORK (AP) — The International Edition of the New York Times and the Paris-based New York Herald Tribune-Washington Post have merged and plan to publish a combined newspaper Monday, if the French government approves the consolidation.

The new paper will be called the Herald Tribune with the word "International" appearing between "Herald" and "Tribune." Below the name a line will read: "Published with the New York Times—the Washington Post."

Announcement of the merger was made here Tuesday by John Hay Whitney, chairman, and Katharine Graham, co-chairman, of Paris New York Herald Tribune-Washington Post, and Arthur Ochs Sulzberger, president and publisher of the Times.

Houston Puts Down Student Riot

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Heavily armed police quelled a riot at Texas Southern University today after a pitched battle in which three officers and a Negro youth were wounded.

Shots echoed for slightly more than four hours before order was restored.

Police said their initial report that one officer was killed proved erroneous. He was found alive but in grave condition after reaching a hospital.

At least 60 persons in men's dormitories were arrested as the buildings were emptied forcibly. Officers then took 300 to 400 residents of two of the dormitories into custody also.

Ringed by guards, the students were forced to lie on the grass with hands behind their heads. Then, as buses and vans became available, they were herded aboard and driven away.

Police said a report that one officer was slain proved erroneous. He was taken to a hospital in grave condition.

Heavy gunfire broke out as Police Chief Herman Short sent riot squadmen onto the campus of the state's largest Negro school with weapons at the ready.

Witnesses thought some shots flying between police and persons atop or behind buildings came from automatic weapons.

There was sporadic firing for several hours before Short ordered a complex of men's dormitories evacuated. Officers broke down the doors where occupants refused to leave.

The disturbance broke out about 11 p.m., when four fire bombs—bottles filled with gasoline—were hurled. One struck a corner of a women's dormitory but the building did not catch fire.

It was 3:05 a.m. before Short pronounced the campus secure—free of rioting. At least 60 persons were arrested. They were taken to city and county jails and held without immediate charge.

Officers clearing students from the buildings told of finding a cache of guns and ammunition in one dormitory.

This discovery made it clear the outbreak "was inevitable," said Ken Fairchild, a special assistant to Mayor Louis Welch.

Police officer Lewis Kuba, 25, was shot in the face. His condition was described as critical.

Also wounded were patrolmen Alan Dale Dugger, 32, said to be in poor condition, and Robert Blaylock, hit in the left thigh.

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

Hempstead County voters approved the Hope Wire Products bond issue in yesterday's election by 792 to 106. These are, of course, unofficial returns, but the clear cut majority is there and the progressive-minded people of our County have spoken.

Hempstead County Cattleman's Assn. members are reminded to attend the Beef Cattle Study Day at the Experiment Station on May 19, said Leo Ray, president. The group will assemble at the Beef Bull Performance Testing Barn at 9:45 a.m. In making the announcement Mr. Ray reminds association members that there will not be a regular meeting of the group. Discussion will center around results of tests conducted during the past four years and on new research being carried out by the station at this time.

H. Barry Spraggins of 22 Edgewood and Theodore Mead Jones, Jr. of 321 W. Second St. of Hope, will receive degrees from Southern Methodist University in annual commencement exercises of May 21. Theodore will receive a Bachelor of Law degree while Barry will be presented with the Master of Business Administration degree.

$9,000 Advanced Insurance Dept.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller Monday gave the state Insurance Department over $9,000 for what he said were expenses incurred by the department during the hearings on automobile insurance rate increases.

The money came from the governor's emergency fund.

The Insurance Department conducted the hearings in February after two rating companies requested rate increases. The department hired several persons outside its agency to aid with the hearing.

The companies which requested the increases withdrew their requests at the hearings.

Johnson to Hearing on Rock Island

L. Carter Johnson, Hope traffic consultant, left for Kansas City today to make a 10 a.m. appearance Thursday at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing over the proposed purchase of the Rock Island Railroad.

Bidding for the Rock Island are: Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern, and the Milwaukee Road. Each has filed an application to buy the Rock Island and resell portions to other carriers.

Mr. Johnson will appear in behalf of the Kansas City Southern Lines including Louisiana & Arkansas, which claim they are shut out of the present plans for distribution of Rock Island trackage. He said the KCS Lines are asking for certain trackage rights including lines to Chicago, Fort Worth, and Houston.

One of the KCS system's important problems, Mr. Johnson said, is to acquire connections with the North and East.

France Hit by General Strike

By DAVID M. MASON
PARIS (AP) — A 24-hour general strike protesting President Charles de Gaulle's request for special legislative power knocked out main public services in France today.

About 13.7 million persons were striking or unable to work, and millions of others were affected. But France has had repeated 24-hour strikes in recent years, and most Frenchmen took this one in stride.

The National Assembly begins debate Thursday on De Gaulle's request for authority to legislate by decree in the social and economic fields for six months.

Hope Wire Bond Issue Approved

Hempstead County voters overwhelmingly approved by a vote of 792 to 106, a $210,000 bond issue which will provide a new building for Hope Wire Products in the Hempstead County Industrial Site.

This bond issue was voted under Amendment 49 and will be the last of Hempstead County's allowable 5 miles under this procedure. The site on which the new building will be constructed will be large enough to take care of future expansion should the need arise. The building will be 120' x 240', all on one floor and will be such that both rail and truck facilities will be available.

Housing, Urban Bill Attacked

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans mounted a three-pronged attack today against a $10-billion appropriation bill financing the Department of Housing and Urban Affairs and 19 other federal agencies.

They are centering their fire on three controversial programs — rent subsidies, a model cities project and participation sales certificates — but are reserving some pot shots for such other projects as urban renewal and mass transportation grants.

The house ended general debate on the bill Tuesday but put off voting on amendments until today because many members were absent.

The Appropriations Committee last week cut the rent subsidy program 75 per cent and lopped off more than 60 per cent of the funds the administration requested for the model cities program. Its members hoped to hold the line there.

The rent subsidy program approved in 1965 calls for the government to supplement rents paid to owners of private housing by eligible low-income families. In two years the program has been financed with $32 million.

President Johnson asked for $40 million to keep the program moving next year but the Appropriations Committee cut this to $10 million. Rep. Glenn R. Davis, R-Wis., said he expected strong GOP backing for an amendment to knock out all the money.
